

Make Campus Connections

Often the help we desperately need is right in front of us, but because we are busy or distracted, we fail to notice. On your college campus, there are many services available to help students succeed.

Grab a campus map and go on your own campus tour. Report on at least 3 connections you make.

Ask an instructor about how you could find an internship.

What questions will you ask?

Go to your campus career center and ask about the kinds of services they offer.

Write down the name of the person you spoke with.

Stop by career counselors' office and ask what career assessments they offer.

Write down the name of one assessment that interests you.

Visit the financial services office on campus, and ask about qualifying for financial aid.

Do you qualify for financial aid?

Explore the campus library.

Ask the librarian to show you the career section.

Find your school's job board.

Describe a job posting that interested you?

Locate the college transfer center.

Which California State Universities and Universities of California does your college work with?

Investigate how to qualify for Alpha Gamma Sigma.

What are the qualifications for membership in this scholarship organization?

Check out your campus tutoring center.

What are their hours?

Meet several new students.

Ask the students about their majors.
